most of data flow in applications is through components